

as Constitution Week. This marks the 213th anniversary of the signing of our Constitution.

The guardian of our liberties, our Constitution established our republic as a selfgoverning nation dedicated to rule by law. This document is the cornerstone of our freedom. It was written to protect every American from the abuse of power by government. Without that restraint, our founders believed the republic would perish.

The ideals upon which our Constitution is based are reinforced each day by the success of our political system to which it gave birth. The success of our way of government requires an enlightened citizenry.

Constitution Week provides an opportunity for all Americans to recall the achievements of our founders, the nature of limited government, and the rights, privileges and responsibilities of citizenship. It provides us the opportunity to be better informed about our rights, freedoms and duties as citizens.

Mr. Speaker, at this time I particularly want to take note of the outstanding work of the Prairie Rose Chapter of the Kansas Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which is actively involved in the Third Congressional District in events this week commemorating Constitution Week. The Prairie Rose Chapter has been involved with this effort in our communities for a number of years and I commend them for doing so.

Our Constitution has served us well for over 200 years, but it will continue as a strong, vibrant, and vital foundation for freedom only so long as the American people remain dedicated to the basic principles on which it rests. Thus, as the United States continues into its third century of constitutional democracy, let us renew our commitment to, in the words of our Constitution's preamble: "form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity . . ." I know that the Prairie Rose Chapter of the Kansas Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution joins with me in urging all Americans to renew their commitment to, and understanding of, our Constitution.

25TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE HERITAGE HILL FOUNDATION

HON. MARK GREEN

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 18, 2000

Mr. GREEN of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, this week in my home town, the Heritage Hill Foundation will celebrate its 25th anniversary. I'm proud today to offer a few remarks honoring this exciting occasion before the House.

It's hard to believe that the Heritage Hill Foundation is 25 years old. Back in 1975, a few folks got together and decided that they were going to dedicate themselves to creating a museum of living history right in Brown County. They banded together and founded the Heritage Hill Foundation.

Over the years, this foundation has been a model organization—serving as the example for other state and local groups to follow as they sought to improve their communities.

I'm proud to have served on the board of this foundation. But I'm even more proud of what it has achieved. It has turned that dream of a living history museum into the reality that today stands as Heritage Hill State Park.

The foundation has a long list of achievements to its credit. It has raised millions for the creation and operation of Heritage Hill State Park. It has restored century-old buildings to their original glory, and built new reproduction structures that make the past come alive for the generations of today and tomorrow.

The successes of Heritage Hill are a direct result of the commitment and hard work by all those involved with Heritage Hill Foundation, and the support and help offered by our community. They're also the result of the enthusiasm of those folks, young and old, who visit Heritage Hill and remind all of us involved in the project that our investment has truly paid off.

Thank you, Heritage Hill Foundation.

BLUE RIBBON SCHOOL WINNER

HON. RANDY "DUKE" CUNNINGHAM

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 18, 2000

Mr. CUNNINGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Rancho Bernardo High School in Rancho Bernardo and its leaders, Principal, Paul Gentle and Superintendent, Dr. Bob Reeves. Rancho Bernardo has been designated by the U.S. Department of Education as a National Blue Ribbon School for 2000. I am proud to inform my colleagues that my district had an amazing record of eleven schools selected for that prestigious honor this year. I would also like to note that the Academy of Our Lady of Peace right outside my district in San Diego County was also named a Blue Ribbon School. I applaud the educators, students and communities in each of the San Diego County Schools who pulled together in pursuit of education excellence.

Blue Ribbon Schools are recognized as some of the nation's most successful institutions, and they are exemplary models for achieving educational excellence throughout the nation. Not only have they demonstrated excellence in academic leadership, teaching and teacher development, and school curriculum, but they have demonstrated exceptional levels of community and parental involvement, high student achievement levels and strong safety and discipline.

After schools are nominated by state education agencies for the Blue Ribbon award, they undergo a rigorous review of their programs, plans and activities. That is followed with visits by educational experts for evaluation. Ultimately, those schools which best demonstrate strong leadership, clear vision and mission, excellent teaching and curriculum, policies and practices that keep the schools safe for learning, family involvement and evidence of high standards are selected for this prestigious award. I am pleased that they are now receiving the national recognition they are due.

As school and community leaders head to Washington for the Department of Education awards ceremony, I want to thank them once again for a job well done. More satisfying than any award, these leaders will have the lifelong satisfaction of having provided the best education possible and a better future for thousands of children. I am proud of what they have achieved, and want to share their achievements so that more people benefit from their accomplishments. I ask that a summary of Rancho Bernardo High School's superior work be included in the record:

Stimulated by vibrant young professional families and grounded by the wisdom, vision, and experience of a large senior population, Rancho Bernardo High School (RBHS), located in a suburban community in San Diego, California, is teeming with energetic activity. The ethnic and age diversity of the community provides a firm foundation and strongly impacts the educational experience of RBHS students. The students, along with the encouragement and support of the staff and families, have brought pride to the community and they took the school to new heights last year when Rancho Bernardo was recognized as a California Distinguished School.

Rancho Bernardo High School offers academic programs that are rigorous and challenging for all students. The programs include advanced placement courses in all academic areas, a model Advancement Via Individual Determination (AVID) program, support courses in the areas of math and English, on-line courses in math and civics, a BRIDGES program for at-risk students (connecting the students to the Bronco community and paving avenues for success), a community mentor program, a ninth grade interdisciplinary academy, incredible visual and technical arts offerings, and academic courses that are linked tightly to academic standards. Technology also plays an incredible role in student learning. Presently, every classroom on campus is home to a minimum of one computer, in addition to the 24 in the Library Media Center. With the campus networked and computers having access to the Internet, modern technology is provided for all students, wherever they are on campus. Ultimately, the RBHS school community is anchored by its prime goal, All Students Learning—Whatever It Takes. This goal drives the competent and caring staff and fosters positive relationships with the citizens of Rancho Bernardo.
